

EAST SIDE RALLY.

A GREAT SPEECH FROM EX-CONGRESSMAN WILLIAMS.

He Handles the Tariff Question in a Masterly Manner and Charms a Large Audience—Facts, Figures and Anecdotes Turned to Good Use.

The Republicans of East Los Angeles had the grandest rally of the campaign at the wagon on Downey avenue last night. By 8 o'clock fully 1000 people had assembled, completely filling the tent and overflowing onto the sidewalks. The meeting was called to order by D. G. Dexter, president of the East Side Republican Club, who made a short speech about the Hon. William Williams of Indiana, who was the principal speaker of the evening. Mr. Dexter said that Mr. Williams had been recommended at the political convention in the West and that he had been a member of Congress for eight years; that he had stumped the State of New York for the late President Arthur, and even now had only one day's vacation in the State of New York again, and, like the true soldier that he is, he is under marching orders, and would come out of his long retirement and give a few parting shots at the enemy before leaving for the East. Mr. Williams has been in retirement on Boyle Heights for two years past, quietly enjoying himself and his restoration to health, which he has happily gained.

Mr. Williams was then introduced, and began a masterly speech, worthy of being addressed to ten times the number present. He is a gentleman about 45 years old, with dark hair and a short-cropped gray beard. A round, chubby face, and a stout physique. His voice is clear and strong. He addressed himself wholly to the tariff question—a theme that many people suppose has become stale, as the campaign has progressed, but with the clear statement of the overwhelming and supporting evidence, the clear logic, and the irresistible deductions of Mr. Williams, it becomes a living issue of the greatest importance. Having been in a position where a mastery of the question became necessary for him in order to hold his own, he had all the points at his fingers' ends. His happy method of stating his propositions, and making the simplest mind understand them, and the ease with which he unloaded facts without burdening the minds of his hearers, and his logical conclusions, at once placed him in the front ranks of oratory. And, lest the minds of his hearers should weary with too much solid reasoning, he told anecdotes of irrepressible humor, yet always pointed, that brought roars of laughter from even the most sober. He dwelt altogether in the realm of thought; no personal abuse of opposing candidates, no diatribes, no vulgar criticisms, no fulsome praise for his own side, but rather arguments for the truth and right, and lofty stirring appeals for the people to act accordingly and protect themselves from the tariff. In address, manner, and argument Mr. Williams greatly resembles Starr King. He was given three hearty cheers at the close of his address. Mr. P. Kelly followed with a short speech, and the meeting adjourned.

"THE GANG."

A Motley Crowd at Police Headquarters—Howard Again.

The plan of campaign of the hoodlum wing of the Democracy, of which Chief of Police Cuddy is the head, has been defined early in the action. The white gambling houses are all running, the "maces," thugs and blacklegs have come out of their retirement, and the tough element may be said to be in the ascendency—at least for the time being. Mr. Cuddy's friends were in high feather over the result of the caucuses Tuesday night, and yesterday were openly boasting that they had captured everything in sight, and that Cuddy had secured the nomination for Sheriff beyond any question of doubt. But this is not the worst feature. All during the day there was a motley crowd of hard citizens, many of whom have been behind the bars before and should be there now, to the office of their chief for consultation and advice. It was really amusing to notice the manner in which they marched in, and with a sly look at the clerk, as though they expected to be held up and searched, they paced into the private sanctum, and proceeded to relate their story and they enjoyed it to the full; but if the present state of affairs only continues, the day of reckoning is not far distant, as the Chief of Police will be forced from his position by public opinion and relegated to obscurity. An incident came to light yesterday which indicates the sort of government we would have in the event of a barely possible contingency. It was the election of Cuddy as Sheriff. Readers of THE TIMES will remember the case of one Al Howard, convicted of vagrancy before the election, and sentenced to 90 days' imprisonment. Sentence was suspended, and Howard was given one hour to leave town. He returned to the city, was arrested by Officer Aubie, and committed to prison to serve out his sentence. At the request of P. Ballade, a Democratic ward politician, Chief Cuddy released Howard, thus overriding the decision of the court. The latter in the case were published in THE TIMES of that date, when Mr. Cuddy, through the other papers, attempted to explain the matter, saying that Howard had been working at Santa Monica and had merely come up to the city after some clothing. THE TIMES then published the case in full, and showed that, under the code, the Chief had been guilty of assisting a prisoner to escape, and laid himself liable to a penalty of imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding 10 years, and a fine not exceeding $10,000. The District Attorneys were also interviewed, as were several other lawyers in the city, and all were unanimous that the Howard case came within the provisions of the statute. Nothing was done in the matter, however, and the case dropped out of sight and was forgotten. Howard has continued to hang about the city, and has been arrested several times. Chief Cuddy is in a position that he will find it hard to explain away, and convince people that he is not a violator of the law rather than a conservator of the peace. On Tuesday night Howard attended the P. Ward caucus at the Southern Hotel, on San Fernando street. Sergt. Davis and Officer Finucane came into the place, when Davis happened to run against Howard, and feeling a revolver in his pocket, called up Officer Finucane, and taking the weapon from his pocket, in the presence of Finucane, ordered him to place Howard under arrest on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The officer did so, and carried his prisoner to the police station, where he deposited $25 bail and was released. Yesterday the police blotter showed the entry opposite Howard's name: "Released by order of the Chief; no complaint." The officers who made the arrest were not consulted about the matter, nor was there any question as to the man's guilt. It was merely another of those cases wherein the Chief of Police makes a law unto himself, takes the judicial and pardoning power into his own hands, and gives rough-shod over the rights of the respectable and law-abiding citizens.

A Calamitous Turnaway.

A very exciting runaway took place on a Los Angeles street yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. A pair of horses attached to an express wagon started off on the dead run, and after they had gone about 30 steps they ran square into a heavy truck, and the whole outfit went down in a confused mass of wheels, boxes and bleeding horses. All of the horses were more or less damaged, but one of them was cut up in such a frightful manner that he will probably have to be shot. Almost all of the flesh was taken from his hind legs, and he presented a frightful appearance. The truck came out all right, but the express wagon was smashed into kindling wood.

THE CONVOCATION.

Full Report of Yesterday's Proceedings.

The Episcopal Convocation of Southern California reconvened in the chapel of the Church of the Epiphany, East Los Angeles, at 10 a.m. yesterday.

After the rendering of the ante-communion service an able discourse was delivered by the Rev. F. K. Starr of San Pedro, from Romans, xv, 13.

The holy communion was then administered, after which the convocation was called to order by the Rev. A. G. L. Irew, dean.

The secretary called the roll of clergy, and the following responded to their names: The Rev. Messrs. J. D. H. Brown, Pasadena; A. Fletcher, Redlands; T. W. Haskins, Los Angeles; J. H. S. Jefferys, Los Angeles; H. S. Judd, Santa Monica; D. F. Mackenzie, Los Angeles; F. W. Miller, Santa Ana Valley Mission; H. B. Mynard, Santa Ana Valley Mission; H. B. Restarick, San Diego; F. R. Sanford, San Buenaventura; F. K. Starr, San Pedro; A. G. L. Trew, San Gabriel; Hall Townsend, Anaheim.

The Dean appointed as a committee on credentials of lay delegates the Rev. F. J. Mynard, Rev. A. Fletcher and Dr. Shor. The committee ascertained that a majority of the clergy of the convocation was present, the secretary, the Rev. J. D. H. Brown, read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved.

The Committee on Lay Delegates reported favorably upon the names of the following who responded to roll-call: St. Paul's, Los Angeles; J. T. Towell, John Wignam, Christ Church, Los Angeles; Harry P. Hathaway; All Saints, Pasadena; L. S. Porter; Church of Our Saviour, San Gabriel; K. H. Shoemaker; St. Peter's, San Pedro; H. B. Lathrop and M. D. O. Bullis; St. Matthew's, National City, San Antonio; Lido.

The treasurer of the convocation reported a small balance on hand. At this stage of the proceedings the members of the convocation were invited to luncheon at the house of a hospitable brother on Johnston street, and to a man they "bodily again" up the hill and then marched down again.

The first order of business for the afternoon was the reading of the Dean's report, in which were many valuable suggestions and encouraging data. Among other things he reported churches recently built at several places; buildings in process of erection in Pasadena and Sierra Madre, and preparations for a new building at Santa Ana.

The dean also reported that pledges for $21,227 had been secured toward the endowment of an episcopate fund. Some very impressive suggestions were made in this connection concerning the duties and privileges of laying the foundations of a new diocese. Encouragement was given to the members of the convocation for further action to be taken in the development of the church in this section of the country.

He closed with an earnest exhortation that all, among both clergy and laity, prove themselves equal to this great work. On motion, the Dean's address was referred to a committee consisting of the Rev. Messrs. Restarick, Starr and Mr. Towell. The next order of business was an essay by the Rev. A. Fletcher of Redlands upon the subject of "The Disciplinary Power Latent in the Church." This essay contained many valuable suggestions on this absorbing theme.

The paper was discussed by the Rev. Messrs. Brown, Restarick, Judd, Jefferys, Haskins, Trew, Townsend and Starr, and Messrs. Hathaway, Lathrop and Bullis. It was voted that the thanks of the convocation be extended to Mr. Fletcher for his essay, and that he be requested to place his manuscript in the hands of the publishers of the Pacific Churchman for publication.

The Rev. J. D. H. Browne offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted by a rising vote: WHEREAS, the Rev. A. G. L. Trew and the Rev. F. J. Mynard, a committee of this convocation, have by an active canvass been instrumental in obtaining pledges to the extent of $21,227 toward the endowment fund for the contemplated diocese of Southern California; and

WHEREAS, the brethren above named have made many personal sacrifices in order to secure these gratifying results; therefore,

Resolved, that the warmest thanks of this convocation are hereby extended to our dear brethren, the Dean and his committee, for their indefatigable and successful labors in contributing in an important manner to the establishment of the new see.

The Dean read a communication from the diocesan board of missions, calling attention to the necessity of greater liberality in behalf of missions, which elicited general discussion and resulted in the passage of resolutions cordially inviting the publishers of the Pacific Churchman to make a personal visit to this section with a view of increasing the contributions to this fund.

After some general discussion upon missionary topics the convocation adjourned until this evening, then to meet for a discussion of missionary topics.

Evening Session.

The Rev. Mr. Sanford spoke upon domestic missions very ably, enforcing the idea that there is abundant encouragement for most earnest efforts on the part of all, by a reference to his own field, which, to him, so recently from the East, has been both astonishing and gratifying.

Following this report several missionaries were called upon for short reports of their work.

The Rev. F. J. Mynard of the Santa Ana Valley Mission, being called upon, furnished as a substitute to his associates in the work the Rev. F. D. Miller, who gave a very interesting account of churches to be built in the country.

The Rev. A. Fletcher reported excellent work being done at Redlands and Lugonia, and the Rev. Hale Townsend reported encouraging indications in the old colony of Anaheim.

The reports were followed by an able address on foreign missions by the Rev. Mr. Judd of Santa Monica, who urged more activity upon what seemed a somewhat neglected part of the work, viz., the representation of the heathen from Africa and China in our midst, who if properly acted upon might become bearers of the gospel to their brethren.

This address was followed by an address by the Rev. T. W. Haskins of Christ Church, Los Angeles, upon the subject of the retention of this tenth is a crime in the sight of God. Many excuses and ways of evasion are devised, but their vain and a truly consecrated life will be shown by this consecration of wealth.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

A Rising Young Democratic Politician Bounced.

During the past few days there has been some talk about a scandal in one of the high-toned Democratic clubs, but the matter has been kept very quiet, and there are not more than half a dozen people who know anything about it. It seems that when the club was organized a young man who has been in the city but a short time was elected to a responsible office. Things went smoothly until a few days ago, when the club was informed that certain bills for which money had been procured had not been paid, and the young man was invited to appear before the president of the club and explain matters. He put in an appearance and coolly informed the president that everything was all right, and that he would return with the money in a few minutes. The president waited three hours, and then came to the conclusion that the young man had lied to him. The whole matter was taken before the Executive Committee, and that body proceeded to bounce the young man and to elect his successor. He promised to turn over his salary in that it was several other organizations, with the understanding that they would not prosecute him. His salaries will make good all but about $50 of the money he used, and it is believed that he will not be prosecuted. The young man has taken quite an active part in politics, and had made a great many friends in the party.

THAT RIGHT OF WAY.

MR. GRIFFITH SAYS THEY WERE STEALING A MARCH.

And They Were Actually Driven Off the Brisswelter Vineyard at the Point of the Shotgun—How the Line Is Projected.

In yesterday morning's TIMES S. P. Lunt of the Southern Pacific Company was permitted to have his say in regard to the trouble between his company and the owners of the Brisswelter estate, full particulars of which appeared in Tuesday's TIMES. In Mr. Lunt's card he denies positively that his men were attempting to force their way through the land, and he is also as positive that no shotguns were used in driving his men away from their work. Mr. Lunt has evidently put both of his feet in it, for G. J. Griffith has come to the front with the following statement over his signature, which proves that THE TIMES's informant, Officer Mettvin, was correct. Mr. Griffith's letter reads:

"Mr. S. P. Lunt endeavors in THE TIMES of this morning to have it appear that no overt act was committed, and that no damage was inflicted on the property known as the Brisswelter vineyard. I wish, with all deference to Mr. Lunt and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to state the simple facts.

"During the progress of friendly negotiations between him and myself, looking toward the solution of the right of way matter, a corps of men, who claim to have received their orders from Mr. Lunt, entered upon the vineyard from San Pedro street, and did break the fence in so doing. Not only so, but they did mutilate and destroy the vines.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Its Inauguration in Los Angeles—Applicants for Positions.

The civil service, as first applied to the Los Angeles postoffice, went into effect on the 13th inst. by the appointment of four substitute letter carriers. The selection of these men was made from a list of six of the highest standing in a competitive examination held by the Board of Examiners on the 7th inst. in this city.

This Board of Examiners consists of three employees of the Los Angeles postoffice, who were designated as a board of examiners for the ensuing year by the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C.

The board consists of the following: J. Q. Callaghan, head letter sorter (postoffice), chairman; W. P. Bowen, superintendent of mails, secretary; H. P. Thornton, superintendent of registry division. It is the duty of the board to hold competitive examinations in this city on the first Tuesday in February and the first Tuesday in August of each year for the purpose of securing a list of eligibles from which may be filled any vacancies in the carrier or clerical force of this office. On the 7th inst. the first of these examinations took place in the Spring-street school. It was for the purpose of examining applicants for positions as carriers, and consisted of the following exercises: Dictation of words for abbreviation, exercises in writing from dictation and plain copy, arithmetic, geography and a knowledge of the postoffice delivery of this city. Of the 18 examined, 13 were successful in obtaining the required 70 per cent, the remaining five having fallen below the required record.

On the following day the examination of applicants for clerkships took place, and all, including five ladies, were successful in passing.

Hereafter all vacancies in the Los An-

PATRIOTIC GARVANZA.

A FLAG POLE RAISED WITH GREAT GOOD FEELING.

Speeches from Republicans and Prohibitionists That Seemed to Please Everybody—A Candidate Gets In His Work for a Yard of Calico.

Passengers on the Santa Fe road yesterday afternoon looked across the arroyo at the neat little town of Garvanza and saw a bright new flag floating on the top of a tapering pole 90 feet high. The flag, which is 10x30 feet and very handsome, was raised, together with the pole, by the citizens of Garvanza at 1 p.m. yesterday.

On July 25th they held an ice-cream social and festival and with the proceeds the ladies bought the flag, while the men subscribed a fund for the pole. J. I. Crites, like the late "Nasby," "appointed himself" to engineer the business, and with the help of Ralph Rogers made a brilliant success.

F. E. King, Republican, Fairchild, Democrat, and Thomas Fellows, Prohibitionist, formed the committee, aided by the ladies' committee of Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Walters and Mrs. Whately. The pole was duly raised and then five enthusiastic ladies—Ames, Rogers, Stannert and Young and Misses Gilbert and Clark—triumphantly hoisted the banner to the breeze. Long may it wave!

The pole is placed in front of the town hall. Inside the hall, which was tastefully trimmed with evergreens and little flags, most all Garvanza assembled yesterday afternoon. Fully half were ladies, who looked handsome and cool in their lawns and satens, while their eyes sparkled at the witty points of the speakers. Children sat on the stairs and chattered.

F. E. King called the meeting to order and J. I. Crites presided and smiled serenely at the result of his labors. Rev. R. M. Smith, who much resembles Dr. Talmadge, offered prayer, after which J. A. Dapray, Esq., recently District Attorney in Iowa, opened up the Republican side of the case. He scored on Cleveland's alleged civil service reform, and in his quick nervous way set forth the Republican claims much much applause, in which F. E. Young, president of the Republican club, took much delight.

H. H. Mallock, the Prohibition candidate for Sheriff, then arose with his Grand Army badge on, and made a ringing prohibition speech. It abounded in anecdotes and pointed out the way he arranged the "Grand Old Party" made the Prohibition girls clap their hands in great glee. Then Brother Donnell replied to him, and the Republican ladies and men took the hall with an applause. After this Mr. Donnell produced a yard of indigo-blue calico and proved by it to the satisfaction of all present that he did not grover Cleveland was in art. Then he pointed out the per display of farm products made by separate counties. Grand parades of showy live animals, races and other attractions to instruct and amuse.

Convicted of Burglary.

The trial of Carrera, who burglarized the house No. 629 Buena Vista street on the 13th of last month and stole $400 in money and some jewelry, was concluded in Judge Cheney's court yesterday. It will be remembered that Pablo Lopez, Carrera's sister, Mrs. Lopez de Bodey, went out to the Spanish Theater that evening, and the lady gave the key of the house to Carrera to be delivered to an agent party. In their absence Carrera entered the house, broke open a trunk and took the valuables referred to, which constituted almost all of Mrs. de Bodey's earthly possessions. A part of the stolen property having been found on the person of the defendant, and a clear case being made out, the jury returned a verdict of conviction.

His Speech on Opening the Campaign in Maine.

The Fisheries Question an Issue Second Only to Protection.

An Eloquent Plea Against the Surrender of American Rights to Great Britain—The Great Leader Treating His Opponents with Chivalrous Courtesy.

By Telegram to The Times.

AUGUSTA (Me.), Aug. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Blaine, accompanied by his son Walker and a large gathering of political admirers, left here at 11 o'clock for Portland.

PORTLAND (Me.), Aug. 15.—Blaine arrived here at 1 o'clock. There was not a large crowd at the depot, and no enthusiasm. Col. Fred N. Dow, president of the To and Fro Club, and Congressmen Reed met the party at the depot, and Blaine was conducted to the Falmouth House, where he dined.

A great mass meeting was held in the City Hall this afternoon to express welcome to Blaine. Three thousand persons were present. When Mr. Blaine appeared in the corridor of the building a great shout went up from the crowd outside, and was echoed by throngs in the hall, men cheering and ladies waving handkerchiefs. As Gen. Leman ascended the platform, Gen. Henry B. Cleeves was called upon to preside. He spoke briefly upon introducing Mr. Blaine, who, in response, said:

BLAINE'S SPEECH.

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I should not have left my home the very day after my arrival but for my desire to feel myself once more in touch with those with whom I have in previous years fought in many good Republican contests (cheers); and once more to compare notes with those upon whose wisdom the party are always relied, namely, the Republican masses, as to what should be done at a crisis in the political affairs of the country in the history of the party, which is its great defender. When President Cleveland delivered his message he had something to say to the American people about the danger of 'trusts.' I think there have since been no dramatic papers in the country, whether they understood the meaning or not, that have not been constantly warning the people as to the horrible danger of 'trusts.' [Laughter.] Well, I shall discuss trusts this afternoon. I shall not venture to say that they are altogether advantageous. They are largely private affairs, with which neither President Cleveland, nor any private person, has any particular right to interfere, and I wish to impress upon you that trusts are the outgrowth, not in any way incident, of the protective policy, as the President charges. The protective policy no more breeds what the President considers the pestilence of trusts than does the free-trade country in the world, which is England. For England is literally plastered all over under her system of free trade with trusts. The very day before I sailed for home, just a fortnight ago, I cut from a London journal an announcement that all manufacturers of coffins and all undertakers of the United Kingdom had gone into a trust [laughter]; that it was to consist of $2,000,000 capital, which, in the language of the English financial market, was to have a large number of 'preferred' bonds, and that the yearly death rate might be expected to yield a semi-annual dividend of 13 per cent. [Laughter.] Now, I think, my friends, that we might safely bury all the President's predictions of evil from trusts in this country in the graves into which these coffins are about to go, preferential bonds and all, and we might do this safely by showing that so far from the protective policy generating trusts it should rest—on principle, Mr. Putnam, I judge from a speech of his which I hold in my hand, and which I read in the Portland Argus of August 9th, is very uneasy in regard to the charges that have been brought against him concerning the very disadvantageous treaty he aided in making, giving away, as I think, in a large degree, the rights of the American fishermen to the fishery with great interest, and I found it to be mainly an answer to some criticisms that Senator Frye of this State had made on the present Secretary of State and the Fisheries Commission in connection with the treaty. I have never yet seen Senator Frye in any contest or controversy in which he was not abundantly able to take his own part [Cheers.] So far as the controversy between himself and Mr. Putnam is involved, it would be sheer presumption in me to say anything in behalf of our distinguished senator. [Cheers.] I assure you from what I know of him that he will be heard from in the discussion, but what interested me most in this speech of Putnam's was three or four lines that occur somewhat parenthetically about the middle of his remarks. 'At this point,' says the Argus, 'Mr. Putnam discussed several features of the treaty, showing the practical benefits to our fishing fleet would derive from the treaty. But the Argus did not think it worth while to mention what the points of Putnam were. [Laughter and applause.] On all points of criticism of Frye's speech Putnam was full of defiance, but just in a breathing spell, or as Artemus Ward used to say, 'I will tell you a little story' [laughter], so about the time Putnam got half way in his speech he seems to have needed rest and told all these advantages to the fishing fleet which he didn't seem to include in his regular speech, and which the Argus did not deem worth while to report. [Laughter and applause.]

A VITAL ISSUE.

"Well, now, if there is anything in the question at all, if there is anything in the world about which Americans are concerned today touching this fishery question, it is the very point which the voters of Maine, before whom Mr. Putnam appears as a candidate, would like to have him explain. For we believe—I mean by 'we' the fishermen of the coast—that it is a complete abandonment of the whole fishing interests of the United States, and I may myself, following the example of Senator Frye, at some future period of this campaign, take occasion to show the grounds of my charge. [Great applause.] I will promise you if I do I will not limit it to a three-line paragraph in the middle of a long speech. [Great applause.] On Monday last week, as the passengers on the steamer on which I was crossing the Atlantic rose from breakfast, there was a sudden rumor that we were in the charge of a fishing fleet. We had come to the Banks of Newfoundland, and as we rushed to the deck we were surrounded by some 12 to 15 sail of fishermen, partly French-Canadian and more largely American. It was very rough, so much so that at least half the passengers were very seriously disturbed with the most unpleasant sensation known to human nature [laughter], but those of us who could get on deck and I will honestly confess that I was not one of the swiftest myself—beheld in this rough sea the fishermen in their small boats, their little dories, that were not more than 15 feet long, out in those waves that seemed to those on the steamer to be rolling half the height of this great room, and they were rearing up their trawls with as little concern as Maine farmers would now his hay in July, and there was one universal burst of admiration on that steamer at the daring and heroism and splendor of bravery that was risked life in contest with such angry elements. [Great applause.] I said to myself then, as I say to you now, that in my judgment the United States would dishonor itself for all time if, by any negotiation or for any consideration, it should surrender one jot of the rights of those gallant, generous and brave men. [Great enthusiasm.] After Mr. Blaine came Hon. Warner Miller of New York.

Wanted for Murder.

STOCKTON, Aug. 15.—Police Officer Carroll today recognized a prisoner named Turner, one of three Fresno roughs arrested here yesterday for shooting in the streets, as a man wanted at Modesto for murder. Constable Carter of that city came tonight, and believes that Turner is the man who assaulted a brakeman at Modesto on the 1st of this month, and cut off the brakeman's nose with a razor.

KERNERS FROM KERN.

Business in Bakersfield—Republican Politics Prospering.

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 11.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Every body that has been in California any time is familiar with Bakersfield. It is one of the old landmarks of the San Joaquin Valley. It is not directly on the line of the road, but it is only a mile from Sumner, which is the end of the division of the Southern Pacific, and a point whence several branch roads are to radiate through the valley. Being only a mile distant, and connected by street cars and hack lines, the railroad advantages are all she could ask. For a long time the town was quiet, but a new day for it is dawning; and the general progressive spirit of the valley is here also manifesting itself. And speaking of progress, reminds me that this used to be a distinctly Democratic district; but now how changed! Bakersfield has a Republican club of 206 members, a uniform club of 50 members for fancy-dress parades and a drum corps of 16 members, 12 drums and four fifes, and every man in all this crowd is a Republican. And this in a town of a thousand people. The very first evening the nominations were announced a grand ratification was held here, and one hundred men appeared in line. The uniform of the club represents the party colors—red, white and blue—and is very handsome.

Much improvement and building is going on here. One of the principal structures is the new hotel, which is being built of brick, and will be one of the largest in the valley. Indeed a new hotel is much needed here, as all the public houses in town are crowded. This, of course, represents a good condition of business, and all the business people are happy. The Kern Valley Bank is filled with money, as of old, and its clerks busy as bees. Joe Edmonds runs his old stand, and Carlock & Robb still furnish lumber for the upbuilding of the town. S. L. Blodgett is a principal dealer in drugs here, and a man of great faith in the future of the town and the whole valley. The principal hotels of the town are the Arlington, the Water and the James. William George Smith is proprietor of the Water, and Cain & Hitt run the James. J. W. Baker is the leading fancy carriage blacksmith. Indeed all the branches of commerce, the trades and professions are fully represented here, and every one is busy, which speaks better for the town and its future than any other words I could add.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

COMPTON, Aug. 13.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Compton's boom continues. Our six large warehouses are rapidly filling with grain, and Mr. Newmark says he has not room to store more than half of this year's crop, but hopes to handle it all by frequent shipments by J. Large loads of alfalfa hay, Irish and sweet, are trailing by on the way to your city to restore the nerve and muscle of your weary stock. (By the way, since the fair blue ribbons are a common decoration for Compton horses and cattle.) Tons of Bartlett pears have been shipped and awaiting shipment at our depot. The orchards are beginning to droop under their loads of fruit, and Marleau's orchard so beautiful now will soon again bend and break under its load. A season here is an encore of the preceding one.

Three butcher firms are busy shipping to your markets slaughtered animals—sheep, cattle and hogs. Our poultry, eggs, butter, vegetables and fruit find a ready market at Long Beach and San Pedro, as well as at Los Angeles. Your Los Angeles water is whitened with Compton milk. Drop down to the Commercial street depot some morning and notice the large number of cans of milk sent to you daily, and then in the afternoon as much more goes fresh to the tea tables of the sojourners by the sea.

This is the kind of a boom we are having, and it has not nor will not reach its climax until cyclones and blizzards cease and sunstrokes have had their day, and lightning has no power to hurt or make afraid, or until the people of the outside world have lost the knowledge of such a land as Southern California. When that time comes it might be well to make cities of our alfalfa fields and parks of our orchards.

Our boom brings us peace and quiet and comfort; brings us wealth, and no second payments due in times of depression. Our boom has none of the feverish heat of gambling speculation. It is legitimate, fair and honest. It needs no smooth-tongued linguist to praise, for our products have a language of their own which is sufficient for our need.

Take your map—no, ascend to the roof of the Times Building. You are sufficiently high to overlook every other structure in the city except those perched upon the hillsides. You look over the Nadeau, and your eyes rest upon green hills and groves. How near they seem in the clear air, and yet they are 12 miles away. And farther on is the coast; to the left Long Beach and to the right San Pedro, with shipping. Yes, yes, I know you look at this picture often. Well, those green fields is where our cows feed; and those green groves around the farmhouses is where they come up to be milked, and don't you notice that that beautiful green spot is nearly in the center of this valley, and surrounded by growing cities, every one of which must come to Compton, more or less, for what they eat and drink. Now, with our lands always fruitful, when will our boom reach its climax?

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Monrovia Water Trouble.

MONROVIA, Aug. 11.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Has E. J. Baldwin and Mr. Bradbury the right, because they have plenty of money and fast horses, to enjoin and prevent a poor, toiling citizen in a free country, or supposed to be free America, from using the water rising from his own springs, on his own land, patented by the supposed Government of the United States of America, and been used on said lands for 20 years, on gardens, corn and bearing fruit trees 15 or 20 years old? Can any court in this free country, if it is free, go into a man's garden and tear his boxes and dishes up or instruct an officer to do so, and take the water from a man's family and cause them to go and dip water out of the creek after being turned from his own house and pipes flowing from his own land and causing his crops and trees to suffer, and detaining him from preparing his lands for the coming year's crops and fruit. It is true the Monrovia people are short of water, but they have had to haul water year after year for domestic purposes, because the water would sink before reaching their pipes and ditches. It is not the fault of the settlers. They can buy the right to take all the water they want a good deal cheaper than to law or steal it.

Attention, Grape-growers. LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In your issue of the 10th I notice that the grape-growers at Livermore have combined and decided not to sell half the crop if less than $18 per ton is allowed for full crop. This is a move in the right direction, and now let the growers of vines here make a like combination. For the past few years grapes have not paid their cultivators, and the injustice practiced by a combined monopoly should be met and conquered.

VETERANS GATHERED.

THE GRAND ARMY BOYS AT ANAHEIM LANDING.

A Right Good Time Among the Old Soldiers—Speeches and Hand-shaking—Proposal to Hold Further Annual Meetings.

ANAHEIM LANDING, Aug. 15.—[Special Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The Grand Army of the Republic, in their first annual encampment, have chosen a favored spot for their tenting grounds. Anaheim Landing lies about seven miles from the coast from Long Beach and commands a magnificent view of San Pedro and her shipping beyond, with Alamitos Bay lying between. A branch of the San Gabriel River empties itself into the sea between here and Alamitos, and hence bars the driveway on the beach which otherwise would extend from here to Rattlesnake Island uninterrupted. On the left, as I look down the coast, a sharp point juts into the sea, some miles below, which they call Newport Landing. The beach is almost as broad and beautiful and the bathing quite as good as at the aristocratic watering place above us.

There is fine still-water bathing and rowing in the lagoon for those who prefer this to the rough handling of the breakers. The encampment is indebted to Mr. Bixby for his kindness and generosity in placing at their disposal, rent free, this beautiful location, and the G. A. R. would tender most sincere thanks for the courtesy.

Driving down from Long Beach, the mess, through which the road winds, gradually rises, and, before we are aware of it, we find ourselves on a height which overlooks this canvas town which has sprung into existence with a rapidity that eclipses the "paper towns" which were so popular in these parts not many months ago. Yes, "the boys" are here in all the glory of flowing flags and martial music, muskets, fife and drum.

All day long Tuesday the veterans and their families continued to pour in steadily, and tent after tent spread its white wings and hovered down 'mongst its comrades for a 10 days' sojourn.

The mutual good feeling is ev everywhere apparent. Yesterday I noticed a tall, splendidly-formed veteran, arrayed in full uniform, parading the grounds. There approached him a little, old, insignificant-looking man in shabby clothing, who, after surveying his comrade for a moment, half timidly gave that military "sign" which is the silent symbol of brotherhood. At once the uniformed officer seized the outstretched hand in a cordial grasp and exclaimed: "Which company, comrade?"

This afternoon the register will be opened, and all old veterans are requested to record their names.

The permanent officers present are: Senior Vice-Commander Charles E. Berry, Gordon Granger, Post 138, Orange; Quartermaster Robert Cummings, Sedgwick Post 17, Santa Ana; Adjutant, Harvey W. Cowles, Frank Bartlett Post 6, Los Angeles; Chaplain, George A. Irvin, Malvern Hill Post 181, Anaheim.

Comrades Knapp and Berry have full charge of the evening's entertainments to be given throughout the 10 days' encampment.

By 6 o'clock last night Uncle Sam's hosts were pretty well quartered, and the band stationed itself in front of Commander Brooker's tent, while the martial strains of "Yankee Doodle" and other national airs called together a crowd of listeners. In the evening a reception was held in the pavilion, and the old soldiers and their families turned out in full force. At 7:30 the band, with torches flaring from their caps, formed in line and filed to the place of meeting, where they rendered several selections in a very spirited manner, eliciting enthusiastic applause from the audience.

Senior Vice-Commander Charles E. Berry was master of ceremonies, and bade a hearty welcome to all present. After expressing his satisfaction at seeing so many old comrades, he extended a most cordial invitation to everyone to join in the full enjoyment of the next 10 days. "Not a single solitary thing," he said, "will be left undone to contribute to your happiness. Military duties will be observed, a police guard has been established, and no intoxicating drinks of any kind will be allowed within our lines. We are going to have a good time, and talk over the battle scenes and camp life of 25 years ago."

He then introduced Col. Brooker, who has received with hearty applause and three rousing cheers. The Colonel, in his pleasant, genial way, said:

"Comrades, Ladies and Gentlemen: I am glad to be here, and heartily glad to greet so many of the boys. This is our first encampment, and it is an experiment. It is the first time the soldiers of Southern California have met together in a reunion, but we do not intend it shall be the last time. We shall try to establish a permanent organization, and we will attempt to make it pleasant for all of our guests."

He then read the order published in yesterday's TIMES, after which the band played "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

H. T. Payne of Los Angeles was next introduced and responded.

Comrade Henry Knapp of Los Angeles was then brought forward and made the following facetious remarks:

"I went around this morning and notified all these speakers that they had their speeches all written out, but I didn't intend to say a word, so I've nothing prepared. I had calculated, however, to announce that the band would next favor us with 'Marching Through Georgia,' but that was all I expected today. The president owes me a grudge, so he's called on me. As the next speaker on the programme was a clergyman and an old soldier, you've fallen from grace in listening to me instead of him. I came down here to hunt for clams, and I've killed more clams this afternoon than there were rebels killed in the war, and they're nearly all digested, too. I'm glad you're all here, and we want everybody to have a good time."

I expect to return tomorrow to my favorite diversion of digging up a few scallops, and I'll be glad to have any of the boys who enjoy this sport come along with me." [Enthusiastic applause.]

The band then played "Marching Through Georgia," and, on the suggestion of Comrade Berry, the audience joined in singing the chorus of this stirring battle song.

Chaplain Irvin of Anaheim was next introduced. He referred in a touching manner to the sad experiences of soldier life, the hospital scenes, and the horrible sights after battle, when heaps of slain soldiers and horses were massed together in a common pile. All these sad spectacles, and the sufferings of army life, tend to weld closely together the friendship of soldier for soldier, and hence no class of individuals are so ready to lend assistance as one old comrade to another. After music by the band, Comrade Berry announced that the remainder of the evening would be spent in dancing. Accordingly the young people took the floor and "tripped the light fantastic" till a late hour. The floor was rough, and the illumination consisted of a lantern suspended from the ceiling and a kerosene lamp or two, but no one hindered no one from having a royal good time.

PASADENA.

Youthful Burglars' Improvements.

PASADENA, Aug. 14.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The examination trial of William Lewman, aged 18 years, charged with burglary and larceny, took place before Justice Terry this afternoon. It appears that on the night of August 1st last the store of McBain & Co. in Riverside was broken into and a quantity of clothing taken. Through Detectives Ross and Behen of this city young Lewman was arrested and charged with being one of the burglars. Clothing found on his person was identified by the owner, and the young man was bound over and in default of $1000 bail, was remanded to jail at Los Angeles. Young Lewman, seeing the status of affairs, concluded to make a clean breast of the whole matter, and made a statement implicating Dan McCarty, Charles Wilson and Tom Healey as the other parties to the burglary, and the young men were all arrested.

The Pasadena Lake Vineyard Water Company are about to complete the large water main to Devil's Gate, where a large flow of water will be obtained, until which time the portion of the city supplied by that company must economize the precious fluid, and all water used must be drawn at stated hours. Mr. Weisman of Los Angeles and two accompanying friends were lost in returning from the mountains, by way of San Gabriel Cañon, a short time since, and were compelled to retrace their way for a long distance in consequence of mistaking trails on the summit.

THE ENFORCEMENT COMMITTEE.

PASADENA, Aug. 15.—The enforcement committee had a very important meeting this morning in regard to the prosecuting of the beer vendors. Dr. A. Reid, the chairman of the committee, made quite a lengthy report, which was ordered recorded.

Dr. Reid has sent a letter to E. Gibson, United States Revenue Collector at Los Angeles, in which he names parties who have been engaged in selling liquors without United States licenses, or, having them, refuse to place the licenses in a conspicuous place.

They are: Henry Beest, Arthur Allen, Terry & Hepburn (lessees of the Carlton Hotel), John Senich, Mrs. John Ziegler, Peter Steel and Webb & Sawyer.

Arthur Allen is said to have left the city. It is common report that the Commercial lunchroom does a heavy business in the bottled beer line. Warrants are out for the arrest of several parties, and they may be apprehended before night.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word malaria was commonly known today it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a disordered action of the liver, which, in performing its functions, finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel, is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, malaria, bilious fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.
